SEARCH CONTINUES FOR NICHOLAS CAMPAGNO

On Wednesday, July 18, two men were thrown into the Gulf when a boat from which they were fishing capsized at the second beacon. They were Nicholas Campagno, of New Orleans and Pass Christian Isles, and Charles Burton of New Orleans.

It was believed that the life-belt may have been defective and Campagno not knowing how to swim, was unable to save himself.

DR. J. D. HUSBAND VIEWS ON WRITING

Writing is "99 percent perspiration and one percent inspiration" stated Dr. John Dillon Husband in a recent interview.

Dr. Husband is a professor of English at Tulane University, and is nationally known as a teacher and creative writing, but insists that the subject cannot be taught.

"Talented writers can be led past the pitfalls of the craft, but a writer cannot be made of the untalented," says Dr. Husband.

The teacher was born at River Forest, Ill., and has been on the staff at Tulane since 1946. He attended Northwestern, where he received all his degrees. He is at present busy writing a novel about the South, but comments on the shortage of book sales today, remarking that TV may be responsible. He thinks that TV could be an aid to prospective writers, "if producers would quit trying to make zombies of minstrels and cease their desecration of the grave of vaudeville."

Dr. Husband lives on North Beach with his wife, Bettie, and young son, Robin. He has been invited to attend a writers' school in the East and will leave sometime in August, to be absent about a month.

The Water Safety Program has proven a gratifying success in this community and has enabled many children to become proficient in aiding themselves in a crisis. Much credit is due the Red Cross, Mr. Whitfield, Miss Arceneaux and all others who were instrumental in establishing this course of instruction in the Bay St. Louis area.

ROBERT TALLANT'S LATEST BOOK IS CONSIDERED 'BEST'

Of interest to local residents in the news that Robert Tallant's new novel is off the press and is considered one of the best he has written to date. Mr. Tallant will be remembered for having made a personal appearance in conjunction with the review of his book, "A State in Mimosa," which was sponsored by the Episcopal Parish School Mothers and reviewed by Adeline Samuel about two months ago in Bay St. Louis.

The current Tallant story has to do with a traveling salesman who gets himself into all sorts of situations and finds anyone in distress. In his attempt to aid them he more than irritates his wife, to whom he is genuinely devoted, but who fails, on occasion, to understand his magnanimity. The story is interesting, amusing and informative.

CLERMONT PROPERTY OWNERS URGED TO BACK PAVING PROJECT

Despite rumors to the contrary, the first cost of the paving project now in process in Clermont Harbor.

During a delay in which one of the spreaders was out of repair, it was generally disclosed that the project was a "hoax" and rumors were being taken that the project would never be completed. This rumor, in some cases, had the desired effect of stirring some of the property owners into action, who upon investigation, learned however that the work would be in progress on Monday, July 16. Weather conditions being favorable, Monday, July 16 goes on record as being the first day this season that the residents of Forest Avenue prayed for clear weather instead of the usual wish for rain, in order to settle the parking dust clouds.

Citizens of Clermont Harbor are urged to take a part in this project in black-topping all of the streets of the community. Remember, a property-holder only has to pro-rate 35 cents a running foot for each foot of land he owns and the county will match the difference. The county has also agreed to maintain the up-keep of the streets in the future. All are urged to united in making the community a desirable one, and a more convenient and pleasant area in which to live. Black-topping will immediately increase the value of the individual's property and will certainly help to make the burdens of the householder lighter. All are urged to co-operate in the splendid venture.

It Can Be Done Elsewhere

IT COULD HAPPEN HERE!

Get any group of people together who possess some degree of civic mindedness and progressiveness of spirit and they will eventually get around to talking of the need of a public sand beach and community pier for Bay St. Louis. Talk, talk, talk—but it ends there!

Now there is one organization in town to whom we must doff our hats. That organization is the American Legion. Slowly but surely they are working towards a realization of a sand beach and a public pier. Their attractive home at Washington Street and South Beach is completed and they are now driving for additional funds. The public is responding nicely with contributions. The Hi-Way Drive-In Theatre gave a benefit movie with the proceeds turned over to the Beach & Pier Fund. That is all fine and wonderful. The public is cooperating.

But, what about cooperation on a bigger scale? A city park commission is now in existence. The commission can and will spend $6,000 yearly of our tax money. Undoubtedly, the park commission will one day begin its work on a sand beach and public pier. But for one time could we have in Bay St. Louis a cooperative undertaking? Could we not have a joint effort by the American Legion and the park commission towards the accomplishment of this vitally needed project?

Perhaps the American Legion would not favorably consider this suggestion. Perhaps the American Legion has had enough of their dealings with a public body when they were flatly refused a grant by the City Council towards the construction of a public beach and a public pier.

But, anyway, this idea of two organizations working towards a single goal is food for thought. Community cooperation has seldom, if ever, been the rule here in Bay St. Louis. But—it could happen!

PASTURE IMPROVEMENT RESULTS IN MORE AND BETTER FEED

About this time of the year the results of pasture improvement practices carried out under the Agricultural Conservation Program begin to show up in the form of more and better feed, says Fitzhugh Lee, Chairman of the Hancock County PMA Committee. The seeding of adapted varieties of grass and clovers, the application of lime, phosphates and potash, and good grazing management are practices which especially show up in increased production at this time of the year.

Mr. Lee points out that the results of these practices are particularly important at this time since the more feed produced from pasture means just that much less need for grain and other concentrates, making the Nation's feed grain reserve go just that much further.

Under the 1951 Agricultural Conservation Program assistance has been approved for the following pasture improvement practices in Hancock County: White Dutch Clover, crimson clover, ladino clover, bahia grass, fescue, Dalis grass, sericea lespedeza and annual ryegrass. All of these practices, the chairman points out, help farmers conserve and build their soil and make better use of moisture. The direct result is better pasture, increased livestock production and improved soil to maintain future production.

COMBUSTION?

Pretty, Boston model, Fran McDermott, discovers how combustion heat is measured at one of the seventy exhibits on display at the Chrysler Corporation's "New Worlds in Engineering" show which runs through July 25 in the Copley Plaza Hotel in Boston. The apparatus shown measures the temperature of combustion in an engine cylinder through electronic analysis of infra red rays.

ED P. ORTIE

 SUPERVISOR BEAT 5

Seeks re-election on the merits of his past record—not on the demerits of his opponents. ORTIE led a long strenuous fight to break up ORGANIZED POLITICS which was finally accomplished. ORTIE desires Hancock County to remain a free voting—NON POLITICAL controlled democratic County.

ORTIE broke up the old NUMBER RACKET used in the Claim Docket—instead of names and amounts ORTIE helped break up the COUNTY ROAD COMMISSION.

ORTIE helped in abolishing the Highway Patrol job. ORTIE, though handicapped, has repaired the hurricane damaged beach road comparably well without any extra financing—NO BOND ISSUES AND NO INCREASE IN TAXES.

ORTIE has kept down taxes. No Supervisor in past years was ever under such a strain nor burdened as heavily when he took office as when ORTIE was in 1948 after the hurricane. Yet a great job has been done throughout the county Beat and seawall road WITHOUT BURDENING THE TAXPAYERS WITH ADDITIONAL TAXES.

ORTIE has tried to be friends with everyone—POOR AND RICH. ORTIE, for years had a FREE CHRISTMAS PARTY annually for white and colored children, and with the cooperation of the Hi-Way Drive-In Theatre he will continue the free Christmas tree annually.

ORTIE has donated freely to CHURCHES, CIVIC ORGANIZATIONS and NEEDY PERSONS.

ORTIE is FAIR and HONEST—he has been successful in his own business. ORTIE has a good income from his personal operations—he does not need EXTRA MONEY.

ORTIE has the time to look after the affairs of the County—he is willing, able and now that the County is in a better shape than it was before, ORTIE wants to SERVE YOU AGAIN.

So, Let's All Vote and Support ORTIE for the Beach Term — He is in Good Position to let us know what he thinks — Don't Change Your Mind in the Middle of a Summer Term — SUPERVISOR ORTIE FOR RE-ELECTION

What it Takes to Drill a Well

Here's a partial bill of materials and equipment required to drill a typical Mississippi oil well:

One rotary rig, 7,000 feet of drill pipe, 20 drilling bits, 22,500 gallons of butane, 15,000 barrels of water, 1,500 sacks of drilling mud, 8,000 feet of casing, 1,250 sacks of cement,
15 to 20 trucks, 7,000 feet of tubing, 500 feet of 14" Manila rope, 1,250 feet of drilling cable, and the labor of more than a hundred skilled men and women.

That's part of the total of materials and services which Gulf pours into every drilling operation.
A bill for $20,000 to $200,000 due and payable whether the well is a producer or one of the 128 dry holes which Gulf has drilled in Mississippi.
But the most important material hasn't been listed.
It's the one thing essential to every operation—faith in Mississippi and its people. Without faith, no location is ever staked, no well ever rigged. You might choose one of a dozen different tools to do the job. Or if you had to you could do without some of the materials which ease the work of the bit in the hard core of the earth. But you wouldn't sell the first foot without a full supply of faith.

Gulf has that faith and confidence in Mississippi.
In 34 years of pioneering for oil and gas in the state its expenditures still are $17,500,000 ahead of income. Its investment in Mississippi is $75,000,000
—representing the faith and confidence which Gulf shares with every far-sighted Mississippian in the future and prosperity of the state and its citizens.

technician's OK ahead of time.

4. You'll call on the SCS for technical help in laying out contours, terraces, diversions, ditches, tile, grassed waterways, ponds, etc. You may also be able to rent earth-moving machinery from the SCS Conservation district.

In some cases you may be able to attend a planning meeting even if the SCS hasn't had time to map your farm.

If you live outside of a Soil Conservation district, you can still get an SCS man to look at your farm to see whether the kind of soil conservation you intend to practice is sound, and whether you're tackling the jobs in the right order. (The SCS, or a designated representative, will have to inspect permanent-type practices that you expect to collect ACP payments for.)

Up to now, you've had to wait until a "plan" could come out and work out a plan with you individually. That has taken so long that only 50 to 80 farmers in the "average" district have got help in the whole year.

As a result, SCS has been planning only about 125,000 farms a year. Right now it has a backlog of 185,000 waiting for plans.

"That's been way too slow, we all know that," says Ray Hockensmith, chief of the Soil Conservation Survey Division of SCS.

The neighborhood meetings, and the idea of your helping make the plan, should mean that planners can work with just about three times as many farmers.

SCS put the new scheme up to the executive committee of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts at a meeting in Cleveland, Ohio, last week. It was approved by a big job, but it should go much faster from now on.

Friday evening, July 20, is the date of the political rally to be held at the Hill Store on Coleman Ave. Mrs. Vital Backrock is in charge of all arrangements. Admission will be 40 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. There will be dancing and refreshments. These will be great for a good time to raise, especially since for such a worthy cause. Attend the Political Talent Party and meet all your friends.

Saturday afternoon is the time scheduled for the political rally to be held at the Waveland Town Hall. All candidates are invited to speak and the general public is invited to attend.

Mrs. and Mr. Sam Collins of New Orleans spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Gibson in their home on Beach Boulevard.

Deputy Ed. Gibson, Jr., of the New Orleans Police Force, his wife and family were guests of the Gibsons Saturday and Sunday. Other guests of the senior Gibsons were Sgt. Anthony Reynolds of the New Orleans Police Force, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dastinger, and son, P. J., of New Orleans.

Mrs. Roger Bordages spent Monday in New Orleans.

Miss Vesta Hartfield, Miss Joyce Harrison and Mr. Frank Noto, all of Waveland, have enrolled at Bay High summer school.

Mrs. Tony Bourgeois and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Weidman and children spent Sunday in Biloxi.

Driving to New Orleans Sunday for the christening of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Schwander were Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Bourgeois and daughter, Aggie, Misses Mary-Margaret and Cecile Turcotte, Mr. Walter Turcotte and Miss Evelyn Turcotte.

Mrs. Edgar Johnson and Mrs. A. Jenkins spent Tuesday in New Orleans.

Miss Bobby Jenkins is on her vacation and is enjoying it at her home on Market Street.

A speedy recovery is extended to Mrs. Ducre Bourgeois who is on the sick list.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Brockman, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hall Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Cleary Dossan and sons, Chick and Rusty, of New Orleans.

Mrs. T. H. Brockman, Mrs. O. Brockman, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Hall and daughter, Lynne, enjoyed a sea food dinner at Lakeshore Friday, in honor of Mrs. Elizabeth Courge's daughter, Veva, who was visiting the Courges before returning to her home in Macon, Georgia.

p.m. followed by a banquet at seven p.m. An all day deep-sea fishing trip is on tap for Saturday morning and a seafood jamboree will be held at 7 p.m.

Over 2800 stops a month...yet my F-1 Panel hauls laundry for less than 2¢ a mile

Like over 5000 other Fords in the 50-million-mile Ford Economy Run, Elliott's F-1 Panel was equipped with POWER PLOT.

"I know you can't beat Fords for low-cost delivery work," says F. J. Elliott. "In the six months of the Economy Run, our F-1 Panel travelled 8,350 miles, made 27,350 deliveries and pickups, had no repairs. I spent a total of $162.13 for gas, oil and maintenance—that's a running cost of only 1.94 cents a mile."

No wonder the most talked-about economy feature in modern trucking is the Ford Truck POWER PLOT—it gives you the most power from the least gas. And you get more power on all Ford's more than 100 models.

"The Enforcer" is a realistic drama starring Humphrey Bogart in the title role, comes to the Star screen next Thursday and Friday, July 26-27.

The United Artists Picture Production, distributed by Warner Bros., is based on an actual series of crimes committed by a band of paid killers operating a nationwide network of death-row prisoners, assistant district attorney, aided by a handful of strong-armed cops, traps the leaders, hitherto immune from the law through a series of highway rans, forms the basis of what has been termed, in advance, one of the best in recent years.

In emphasizing accuracy throughout the entire production, Director Bretaigne Windust used outdoor location shots around the City of Los Angeles, covering the residential and shopping districts, the ominous underworld section and other outlying neighborhoods.

With Bogart taking up the side of the law after many wrongdoers, the others in the film were also selected apparently with an eye toward realism. Zero Mostel, a New York night club comic but heralded as one of the fine acting talents in Hollywood, plays a sniveling hoodlum, instrumental in rounding up the mobsters. Ted de Corsia, who scored as the "heavy" in "Three Secrets," and Everett Sloane, the sensitive Army doctor in "The Men" portray the murder syndicate's hatchet man and gang chief, respectively.

Carrying the feminine appeal is lovely Patricia Joiner of California, a newcomer said to bear watching as did Gloria DeHaven, another film state native who made good on the glamour screen. It is Miss Joiner who is the target for the murder ring until law enforcement officer Bogart arrives on the scene.

"The Enforcer" was written by Martin Rackin.

"The Great Caruso" At The Drive-In Theatre

Mon. & Tues., 22-23-24

Probably the greatest array of talent ever brought to the MGM's "The Great Caruso" is a triumphant drama of the career of the immortal tenor, Caruso—a story replete with humor, romance and the fireworks that are part and parcel of the backstage operatic world.

The young singing star Mario Lanza has won a firm place in the hearts of film fans after only two weeks in the picture. He is ideally cast in the role, both from the point of view of his magnificent singing and his ability as an actor. Ann Blyth, the young society beauty who plays Mrs. Caruso, while the production, enlists the services of the renowned Metropolitan Opera stars as Dorothy Kirsten, Jarmila Novotna and Blanche Thebom, and additional artists as Teresa Moosona, Giuseppe Valente, Amara and Marina Koeberling in the striking opera sequences.

The dramatic story of "The Great Caruso" would make this an emotional event without its musical highlights. Opening in Naples, Italy, in which Caruso is shown in his early days as a choir singer, the picture depicts his ill-fated romance with a materialistic woman, the progression of his career and his explosive debut at the famed Covent Garden, a scene by a duel with and the emotional and temperamental director, the rising tenor's American debut at the Metropolitan Opera, and the considerably less successful London triumph.

It is an enthralling, moving, and completely new experience. It is, however, with Caruso's fall to love and even-

Fast, Accurate Telephone Service is Vital to Civil Defense

Warnings of approaching planes, coming from air raid spotters or military radar screens, are flashed over networks of Long Distance and local telephone lines to Filter Centers.

Telephone reports are quickly charted on Filter Center Maps. Then Air Force interceptor planes are alerted: Rescue and relief work, too, are directed by telephone.

This is but one type of the many special telephone networks serving government and military forces to help protect our Nation.

This great and growing telephone system was built to serve America in peace. But it is just as ready to serve in any emergency.

The value of this nationwide telephone network was never greater—never clearer—than it is today.

please give the operator the out-of-town telephone number. Telephone lines are busy with national defense.

VETERANS WISHING GI BILL SHOULD REACH JACKSON, MISS. VA

According to a report from William K. Hinds, manager of the veterans, in regard to the statutory deadline of July 25, 1951 for beginning or resuming training under the GI Bill a veteran who is interested in further training should immediately get in touch with the Jackson regional office.

"There appears to be some misunderstanding and confusion among veterans of the state regarding this statutory deadline," said Mr. Hinds.

The date July 25th as used in the following cases can be changed to four years of schooling from the date of discharge for those veterans who were in the service on July 25, 1947. First, a veteran who has never taken schooling under the GI bill must have applied for such training by July 25. Second, on the 25th a veteran must either be in school or on summer vacation from some academic institution. Third, one who wishes to change his course must give VA notice prior to July 25th. Fourth, the 25th of July deadline does not apply to disabled veterans who may enter under public law 16 after that date.

CONGRESSIONAL SIDELIGHTS
CONTROLS
The House has spent the day, as this is written, in considering the bill to extend the Defense Production Act, and the end of debate on the legislation is still not in sight. Just before the original Act expired with the end of the fiscal year, the Congress passed a stop-gap extension of the law. This was to allow time for full discussion of such controversial features of the legislation as price and wage controls.
The Administration leaders have not pressed for immediate action on the pending bill, hoping for a green-coat response to the recent speeches by the President, Defense Mobilizer Wilson, and others calling for tough controls. However, this hoped-for support to bolster their faltering cause has not developed, and it now appears that the House will pass a version little stronger if any than that approved by the Senate in June.
This places those who feel as we do that we should have across-the-board controls in an unhappy position. We are faced with the choice of accepting half-way measures, which we do not believe will do the job on controlling inflation, or of voting to kill the whole bill when we are convinced that inflation is our worst enemy and that to let it run wild would be playing into the hands of the Kremlin, whose chief objective is to destroy our national economy. Despite the cease-fire talks in Korea, we are convinced that the fight with communism is just beginning rather than approaching the end. As we told the House several days ago:
"You are not going to have any peace this week, or next week, or next year, as long as the masters of the Kremlin are calling the signals and we are running the defensive plays; you might just as well realize that this is another Trojan horse, and that if you had a solution of the matter in Korea, the Kremlin would start in somewhere else. We are in this thing for a long time."
OBEY TRAFFIC SIGNS FOR SAFETY
Ignoring traffic signs is the same sort of deadly thoughtlessness that prompts an occasional hunter to see if his gun is loaded by squinting down the barrel and snapping the trigger experimentally.
That was the blunt warning given Mississippi motorists today by Captain A. S. Windham, Executive Director of the Mississippi Safety Council. "The Folly and the chance of survival can be very comparable," he said.
"Disregarding a traffic sign or signal," according to Windham, "can usually be traced back to one of two causes. Either the driver saw the sign and mentally discounted the dangers implied by it, or he looked—literally—'through' the sign and didn't see its warning."
Of the two, Windham said that the latter was probably the greater of the two hazards to drivers and the harder to impress upon them.
"When a man drives the same route day in and day out, he becomes more or less calloused to the traffic signs
